

of Case Western Reserve University.

Through eclectic programming and a commitment to local music. WRUW has striven to expand the musical horizons of Northeast Ohio (and Toledo, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Canada) for nearly 50 years by providing "more music, fewer hits."

This year's Studio-A-Rama is the station's 34th annual celebration of local and alternative rock music.

Founded in 1946 as WFSM by the Flora Stone Mather Radio Club, WRUW has evolved from the AM station WRAR to the FM broadcast station increased its power to a formidable

Studio A Rama 2015 Headliners!

Man or Astro-Man?

Some years ago, a young collective of extraterrestrials arrived on this planet. In order to integrate into human society, these aliens would disguise themselves as a rock band, the perfect vehicle in which to traverse the globe and further their research. They would soon be known to the people of Earth as Man or Astro-Man?.

Man or Astro-Man? Began to formulate their own blend of the retro-futuristic music, inspired by bands such as Kraftwerk, The Residents, Devo, Sun Ra, and The B-52s.

Now, Man or Astro-man? has arrived to headline WRUW's Studio-A-Rama, bringing with them their over-the-top, sensory overloaded show, which has always gained them a reputation for being an undisputedly amazing band to see live.

Doug Gillard

Doug Gillard is a New Yorkbased guitar virtuoso and songwriter, hailing originally from Ohio. He has been a member of many notable punk and rock bands, including Guided by Voices, Death of Samantha, Cobra Verde, Bambi Kino, Nada Surf and Gem. Doug's third solo album, Parade On, was released in April 2014 on Nine Mile Records.

GREAT BANDS ALL DAY LONG! LISTEN LIVE ON WRUW 91.1 FM

HIRAM-MAXIM is a four-piece dark psych-noise project based in Cleveland, and features Fred Gunn on vocals, Dave Taha on guitar, Lisa Miralia on electronics, and John Panza on drums.

Their debut self-titled album was premiered in VICE magazine, and has since been reviewed and/or featured in New Noise Magazine, Decibel, American Aftermath, Steel for Brains, Ghostcult, and Pitchfork.

Signed to Aqualamb Records, Hiram-Maxim recently played in NYC then recorded with producer Martin Bisi With friends like that, it's clear that Hiram-Maxim will put forth a crushingly heavy show at this year's Studio-A-Rama.

Queen of Hell was formed by random drawing in the Winter of Earth year 2013.

Made up of four versatile, award winning vocalists and steeped in the tradition of glam gospel, Oueen of Hell enjoys singing a wide variety of musical styles including ragtime, black metal, and standards from the Ancient Book of Souls

Mortician Treehom (Matt Trahan) - guitar, vocals Spectre (Adam Spektor) - guitar, clarinet, vocals Maximillian Hellhound (Matt Clement) - drums, vocals Mole Gnar (Dave Molnar) - bass Dead Stephens (Ed Stephens) - occasional bass

Cheap Clone is four people who play jangly pop songs and try not to do so for longer than 23 minutes at a time. They just released their first album on cassette, its got a seagull on it.

The band consists of Roseanna Safos on drums, Bubba O'Connor on bass, Kevin Jaworski on guitar, and Drew Ritchey on another guitar.

Sammy Slims is a pop/dance group features themes of mortality and procreation set to danceable beats and hummable melodies.

The group includes former members of Cleveland pop rock rock bands JJ Magazine and Dead Sweaters, featuring Zach Stamik (vocals), Roxanne Stamik (vocals), Glen McNell (guitar), and Will Nolan (guitar). With their pop dance sound and shiny bouncy beats, Sammy Slims is sure to get the Studio-A-Rama crowd dancing on the lawn this year.

Swirly In the Fryer consists of Joey Pepperoni on skins, sins, and twins, Danny Mozzeralli on geetar and vocal cord, Johhny no shoes Razz on vox on string box, and Corbin AssCrackerman on da big mouth bass. Swirly formed in the 2011 behind the dumpster of Bondi's beverage store in the toxic dump of North Willobeast. You will love Swirly in the Fryer.

Conner McCready- Guitar, Skylar Keffer-Guitar/Vocals, Dylan Glover-Synthesizers/Vocals, Khalil Cormier- Bass Guitar, and Cob Kirkwood-Drums) who enjoy exploring different types of music and trying to form cohesive live sets through the exploration of their favorite influences. Sometimes playing experimental rock, and at other times meticulous math rock, from very quiet to very loud, in hopes of being as arresting as possible.

Formed in 2012, Sweepyheads are a Cleveland Rock 'n' Roll band with garage rock and punk band influences. The group consists of Cleveland natives Andrew Yadon, Patrick Grieve, and Louis Haas. Playing fast and loud, they've performed on stages like the Grog Shop and Now That's Class with bands such as The Orwells and FIDLAR. Their full length CD "I Don't Get It" was released in 2014.

Bring your friends, bring your balloons! Half-An-Animal is playing Studio-A-Rama! Half-An-Animal features Marcia Custer (vocals, dancing), Beth Lomske (keyboard, backing vocals, more dancing), and Alec Schumann (drums, synthesizer, backing vocals).

Half-An-Animal's infectious synth/keyboard dance pop is sure to please at this year's Studio-A-rama.

Playing lively, bright indiepop, Heavenly Creature will provide a heavenly, sunshine-filled opening to this year's Studio-A-Rama.
